VERY REV. WILLIAM L. KELEHER, S.J.

It is a real pleasure to greet you again at the opening of another year. This time our pleasure is coupled with a sense of satisfaction and happiness since we are able to report that the enrollments in all our departments are better than we had anticipated. The rumors of the Spring and Summer have passed and we find ourselves with a larger student body than ever. Elsewhere in this issue, your Alumni Secretary will have the detailed figures for you, together with the more recent additions to our several faculties.

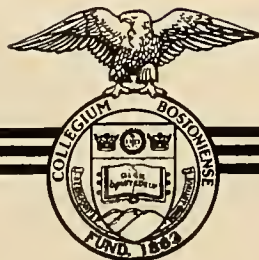

A year ago we located our downtown center for the Alumni. Everyone realized that it was an experiment. Your Executive Committee is not satisfied that the results warrant retaining this downtown center much longer. At a meeting of the new Board late this Summer, we had gone over together the reports of the activities at the downtown center and I believe it is the general feeling that it would be much wiser to return the Office of the Alumni Secretary to the Heights. With this in mind, I have considered the possibility of remodeling the old mansion which stands beside the Philomatheia Club House. Sketches have been prepared and estimates gathered. These I presented to your Executive Board and I am now awaiting their decision. For myself I would like to see the Alumni Center at this location, where under one roof the Alumni activities and many undergraduate activities would bring together all B. C. men. We shall be prepared to go ahead with this as our objective for the year if we can be assured of your interest, an active interest which will assist in defraying expenses. I am informed that several classes and a few regional clubs do manifest interest in this proposal, but to date your executive officers are not satisfied that they can rely on the support of all.

I sincerely hope that those of you who have not already done so will find an opportunity soon to visit our new Parish Church. The Church of St. Ignatius of Loyola was formally opened on July 31 and will serve as a religious center for most of our under-graduate activities. The Red Mass, to open the judicial year, will be held this year in the new Church.

Let me say again a sincere word of appreciation to the members of your Board who served so faithfully and generously last year. I have every confidence that the new officers will follow in their footsteps, and I can only hope that the efforts of the new Board will meet the full support of all the members of the Association. Much has been accomplished in the last few years, but there is still a great deal to be done, if we are to make our college what we all want it to be.

God's best blessings on you and yours always.

Through the years he took pride in the fact that he selected the speaker for the first Baccalaureate exercises in 1894. The speaker, a young promising priest, was Father O'Connell, known to all later as William Cardinal O'Connell.

Mr. Dorsey was president of the Alumni Association from 1909 to 1911. During this period he was active in assisting Father Gasson raise funds for the erection of the Tower Building at the Heights.

President of Alumni Association

BOARD OF DIRECTORS REPORT

At a meeting of the officers of the Alumni Association in August the following business was transacted.

1. Consideration about moving the quarters of the Association from 37 Province Street, Boston, to the campus at the Heights.

The building below the Philomatheia Club on Commonwealth Avenue, owned by the College, is available but extensive repairs are necessary. The advantage over the present quarters is that it is large enough for all class functions including dinners. It also has adequate parking space, a serious handicap at 37 Province Street. This issue went to press before the decision of the officers was made.

2. A committee was appointed to study means whereby the Alumni News could be improved.

3. It was voted to have the Alumni office sell merchandise the Alumni would like to buy. This sale of merchandise would also provide a source of revenue.

4. As another service for the Alumni it was voted to arrange for football trips to the Penn State and Clemson games.

5. It was voted to sponsor an old fashioned football rally the eve of the Holy Cross game.

SPORTS

NATHANIEL J. HASENFUS, '22

FOOTBALL

From this point, two weeks before the opening of the season, we may prophecy a very successful year...not an undefeated year, perhaps, for the schedule is one that only a Curley or a Myers would dare tackle, but a season that will show the Eagles never out-gamed, and playing courageous football. It was my privilege to sit in on the initial official scrimmage of the year, and the spirit of the players was something to marvel upon. The squad is afraid of no one... "Come one! Come all!"

The line will be strong and rugged. Albie Gould is expected to come into his own as an offensive end, and Capt. Spinney will have plenty of help from letter-men Goode, Harbison, Mulloy, Norden, and Ring; and Wisniewski will see plenty of action. Al DiRobbio, hampered by injuries last campaign, is expected to join his fellow-lettermen, Osganian and Bill McCarthy, as will Ben Giordano, squad member since informal days. Donovan and Stautner, of course, are simply terrific as tackles. Pappy and Al Murray are senior guards, but Coen, Flaherty, and Joe Gould, third year men, have all won letters. Center squad is strong even without Kennedy, for in Chouinard, Cunningham, Delaney, Schmitz and Tarasovich, B. C. has five men all over 200 pounds and all good players. The backfield squad is 21 strong, and if a bruising type full-back can be found among them, the Heightsmen should do well, indeed.

Bob Palladino, leading ground gainer in 1948, with an average of 6.1 a carry, should have a good year. So should Poissant, who ran 347 yards with an average of 3.8. Diminick has made his mark among Eagle backs, and Al Cannava, Clasby, Songin, Farrell, Boverini, and Hughes have been Eagle stalwarts so long that they are part and parcel of any Boston College offense.

We must not expect the impossible. Never before has an eleven in these parts scheduled four opponents that figured in four Bowl games the previous New Year's Day, and Oklahoma (chosen as the No. 1 team in the country by Grantland Rice), Wake Forest, Villanova, and Clemson appeared in post-season games and had a .750 average. Yet the Eagles will do well against this stern competition that has not one breather among the whole nine games. Mighty Penn State is being met for the first time; Mississippi is making its first trip north; an improved Georgetown team is returning; Fordham, for the first time since the war really Big Time, returns to the card; and Holy Cross, with its plethora of sophomore stars, may well be the Sleeping Giant of the East. However, the B. C. squad includes 29 lettermen from 1948, and the 1948 club was good. Only six men from that squad have graduated, and their places will be taken by promising sophomores. Mike Holovak will surely help out as coach, and Herb Kopf, Moody Sarno, and Lefty Flynn are excellent aids to Myers.

OTHER SPORTS

Fred Maguire's team was one of the best to represent B. C. in recent years, and the successful season was climaxed by an invitation to take part in the round robin to select the Eastern nine to take part in the National championships. B. C. did not place, being eliminated by St. John's of Brooklyn, but that loss in no way dimmed a great record that included three wins over Holy Cross, a series swept for the first time in many years. Only Rhode Island State was able to have the edge on Boston. Nineteen victories in twenty-one games gave the Maguire men one of the best averages ever posted by a college baseball team.

Track was not too successful, yet the Eagles had their days, too, especially that one on which they defeated the runners from Holy Cross for the first time in several years. Bill Morro was high man of the meet that found the Eagles winning, 73-62, mainly through dominance of the field events. In golf, Kinchla, Ernst, Meehan, Coakley, and Moman were but a few of the splendid golfers who led the team not only to a New England Conference Championship but into the National Championships as well. Yachting, too, found the Eagles soaring...sports are a far cry from our own day at the Heights when we knew neither yachting nor golf—nor the Outing Club either.

INTRAMURAL PROGRAM

Ever hear of an 80-team softball league? Or a 310-game basketball schedule? No? Well, there are such things—right on the Boston College campus.

Unless you're a very recent graduate, you probably don't know that the College now offers its students a program of intramural athletics which last year attracted 1631 different participants in six sports: touch football, basketball, free throw contest, boxing, volleyball, and softball. And the program is only three years old and growing fast. 1949-50 will see not only the addition of tennis, track and weight-lifting, but also the construction of two outdoor handball courts.

The students who enjoy intramurals have the Rev. James Ring, S.J. to thank, for he began the program in 1946-47. The next year, with Bill Flynn, '39, present varsity end coach as Assistant Director, intramurals grew apace. Last year Fr. Ring, aided by Malcolm McLoud, '28, as Assistant Director, and Thomas Brennan, '49, and Wilfred DeRosa, '49, as graduate assistants, saw the percentage of student participation in intramurals at B. C. rise to a figure surpassing that of colleges which have programs twenty years old and providing three times the number of sports offered at B. C.

How does it all work? Since the present school week at the College has 35 class periods, naturally the students have a number of those periods free. The college authorities feel that a program which will provide the student, in some of those free periods, with the chance to have some fun, get some exercise, and come to know more of his fellows than is possible through the classroom alone, is worth while. So, section teams or individuals who wish to participate have schedules arranged for them in the various sports for certain periods of the day. Each season ends with playoffs and prizes are awarded the champions.

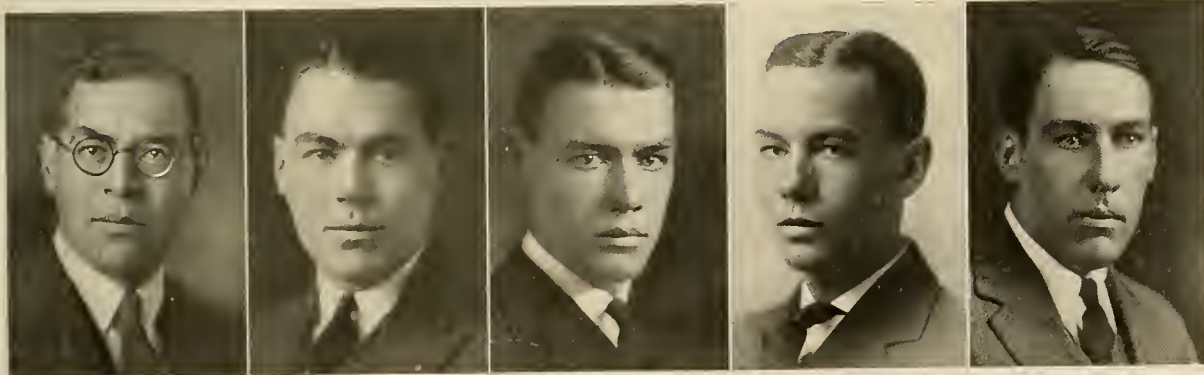

As much of Alumni Field as possible is used for simultaneous touch football or softball games; there are two volleyball courts just outside the New Auditorium Building; and the building itself is crowded with basketball players and boxers. The College provides equipment for these sports and has installed a separate shower and locker room for intramurals in the Auditorium Building. And the coming year will see further expansion with added sports and the newly built handball courts.

FORMER EAGLES DIE

"Punt formation! Fitzy back!" Never will the middle-aged sons of Boston College forget the crisp, staccato cry of the sterling Phil Corrigan, Cavanaugh's great quarterback, one of the most brilliant athletes ever to appear in the East. Phil Corrigan passed away in July. Corrigan, one of the four Boston College four-letter men of all time (Luke Urban, Jimmy Fitzpatrick, and Owen Murphy were the other three), won his letter in football, track (he was N. E. 300 yard champion), baseball, and hockey; and Corrigan was superlative in all four sports. Quarterback on two of the top teams in Eagle history—Eastern Service Champions in 1918 and Eastern Collegiate Champions in 1920—Corrigan has left a record that places him among the greatest half-dozen Eagle quarterbacks. As a passer and punter he ranked with Fitzpatrick, as a field general and ball carrier he was unsurpassed. Were Corrigan alive and twenty he could today step into the quarterback's slot at University Heights.

Nor will we forget Jim Morrissey either, who died the day after his teammate Corrigan. Jim was a plugging football player of the squads of Brickley and Cavanaugh, a member of the most famous athletic family ever to enroll at B. C.; for he, Frank, Len, Arthur and Bill were all hockey lettermen, and football and baseball players to boot. B. C. athletics owes a debt of gratitude to the Morrisseys; their loyalty to Alma Mater is unquestioned, and their work on the gridiron, ice, and diamond brought renown to the Maroon and Gold. We of the generation of Corrigan and Morrissey honor the memories of these two men, who helped our then small college in its struggles to attain the top-most round of athletic success.

☛ The second summer reunion of the Class of 1911 was held at Camp Cedar Crest, Green Harbor, where we were the guests of our genial classmate, Father Ed Hartigan. Due to the inclement weather and some previous commitments, the gathering was not as large as a year ago.

A Memorial Mass for the deceased members of the class was said at 9 o'clock by Father Hartigan and was attended by Fred Dunphy, John Mahoney and Fred Murphy. During the day Father Al Finn, Jim Cotter, John McEleney and Larry Kiely arrived. Lunch, an auto ride, cards and dinner were enjoyed by all.

We are sorry to report that Vin Greene has been ill and hope that he will be with us at the Fall reunion.

Since the last issue of the News, Father Al Finn has been transferred from Quincy to the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Cambridge, and Father Tom Flynn from St. John's, Roxbury, to St. Angela's, Mattapan.

This is a preliminary notice for all concerned. The regular Fall reunion will take place at the Hotel Puritan, Friday, November 25, the night before the B. C. - H. C. game. This will give sufficient notice to the New Yorkers, George Leonard and Leo Noonan. Also to Doctor Ed Cummings, Washington, D. C. While we were glad to hear from Ed at the last dinner, we are looking forward to seeing him on November 25. We also expect to have as our guest Father John Vigneron of North Dakota who is home on sick leave.

Another of our Class has passed on to his eternal reward. Father Cornelius Reardon died on May 21, 1949. Our sympathy to his bereaved family.

☛ Rev. Daniel Mahoney, S.J., is stationed at St. Andrew Bobola House, Newbury Street, Boston. He celebrated the 25th anniversary of his ordination in June.

JOHN S. KEOHANE

tinuation of the same spirit and interest which made our 35th Anniversary celebration on Alumni Day such a memorable occasion will manifest itself at our future semi-annual dinners. Our next get-together is scheduled for October, the exact date to be announced in the mail.

Fred Doyle's son, Fred, Jr., recently was admitted to the Bar. We hope the brilliance and success of his father's efforts will be a shining target for the son's ambition.

Father Pat Flaherty, pastor of St. Mary's of the Hills, Milton, will have the super-structure of his church completed in October. It will be a thing of beauty and a joy to see. Bill O'Sullivan proudly proclaims the arrival of his third grandchild, who, through his father's interests, seems destined for Holy Cross.

Leo Grueter's daughter, Marguerite, became a postulant at the Sisters of St. Francis Convent at Glen Riddle, Pa., on August 28.

The recovery of Father Pat Dawson of Nantasket from a serious illness has enabled him to resume his parish duties.

John Keohane's son Paul is a freshman at the Heights and Marie is a freshman at St. Joseph's College, Hartford.

☛ Phil Bond has been appointed assistant superintendent of the Boston schools. He is in charge of school department personnel.

Father Edward Corrigan, pastor of St. Ann's Church, Keansburg, N. J., is proud of the three bells installed in his church last month. The bells range in weight from 1650 to 550 pounds and are dedicated to St. Joseph, St. Mary, the Blessed Virgin, and to St. Ann.

Kindly remember in your prayers our classmates, Father Lyman Merrill and Roger L. McCarthy who died in Providence on June 29, and also Father Louis Logue's brother, Emmett Logue.

 We regret to report to the Class the deaths of our classmates, Jim Morrissey, Ralph Cahouette and Jack Heiser, a freshman and sophomore member of '20, all of whom passed to their eternal reward during the past summer.

Our deepest sympathy is extended to our classmate, Arthur Robertie, on the death of his wife, who was also the sister of our John Cody. May they rest in peace.

dear john

its a little difficult to try to brighten up the notes for this opening issue because so many tragedies have hit the class since alumni day but we had a letter from father bernard f doucette from the philippines which tells of his change of address to ateneo de cagayan, cagayan, misamis oriental, philippine islands where he will teach physics and be student counselor and i am glad to report to the forty thieves that a letter from charlie mcgill tells us that phil shea is now equipment engineer in the n. y. telephone company and then on the home front we had a visit from fred donaher on vacation from detroit and although bill lyons was on from st. louis we missed connections and gus horgan while on a trip up from washington to the family homestead had an unsuccessful trip over a family rug and ended up with a broken arm and we hope that nothing like that happens to the rest of the gang because they will need both arms for the class reunion on columbus day when joe joyce will be toastmaster in spite of his attempt to get out of the job this past summer by passing several days on the border of valhalla as a result of an operation and now that he is completely recovered we want to assure him that we never lost faith even when things looked gloomiest in the old saying that only the good die young and we know he would be wielding the gavel at schrafft's and with a final orchid to the committee on the alumni medal award who made the selection of our president toni scanlan as most worthy of the award last june we will end

i thank you

The work of George McKim as headmaster of Public Latin school is eliciting nothing but praise.

☞ The parties on our Anniversary week-end brought forth many faces that the "Old Guard" has not seen for years. To mention a few—Bob Bond, Dick Cusick, Martin Murray, Ray Gemmel, Frank Kilcoyne, "Steve" Littleton, Jack Pyne, Graham Magee, George Hughes, Dr. Jim Ward, Rev. Our genial president John Monahan was a competent "Master of Ceremonies." His cordial greetings and capable rendition of "Galway Bay" makes him an excellent insurance agent, president and "Pater Familias."

At the Alumni dinner a check for $15,000 was presented to the Rector making the class gifts to date well over the $25,000 mark. Now there is truth in the closing stanza of our class song "and we own the Reservoir."

"Tommy" Kelleher announced his engagement to Anne Collins of Swampscott at the dinner party at the University Club — September 28 is the date of the wedding. It's history now — but what pleasant memories for those of us who were able to attend one or all of the festivities on our Twenty-fifth Anniversary — and what "a blank spot" in the memories of those who failed to attend.

In addition to the parties outlined in the June issue of Alumni News, a party was held at the summer home of Dr. and Mrs. Walter J. E. Carroll in Marshfield on the evening of June 15th. Fifty or more of the members of the class and their wives were present and needless to say "a good time was had by all" — Holhrow — one more orchid to Walter and Julia Carroll.

After many years in the midwest, we have Robert J. Bond back in Boston. Bob is the Department Manager in R. H. White's in the Radio, Television and Appliance Department, and makes his home at 497 Chestnut Street, Waban, with Mrs. Bond and the six Bond issues. John A.
